

Hoppe® Swinging Door Hardware

Kolbe's offering of Hoppe® swing door hardware has expanded to include both a European and an American Style handle set option with multi-point locking functionality. The European Style features a locking cylinder located below the handle, while the American Style lock is situated above. Both hardware styles are available with a selection of finishes to complement your décor.

Features & Benefits:

Hoppe's American Style multi-point hardware incorporates unique functionality that enables users to quickly lock the door with the deadbolt, which actuates independently of the multi-point extensions. No sequential order of operation is required, as with the European Style option. To enhance French door operation, the American Style lock prevents the secondary door from opening before the primary door.
